Large Number Of Prisoners Taken In Flanders Is German Report

(International News Service)
BERLIN, June 1.—The resistance of French forces surrounded in northeastern France has been broken, but British troops at Dunkerque are putting up "stiff battle," the German high command said today.

In addition to the capture of 26,000 prisoners in the sector south of Lille, a high command communique declared, the Germans achieved many victories against Allied naval forces operating around Dunkerque. "The Germans have broken the resistance of the last French forces trapped in northeastern France," the communique said.

"In cleaning up the south Lille sector alone we took 26,000 prisoners. Attacks on the remnants of the British expeditionary forces on both sides of Dunkerque are proceeding favorably despite stiff enemy resistance and exceedingly difficult terrain."

"Despite unfavorable weather conditions our air force on May 31 successfully combatted additional embarkations at Dunkerque and also intervened in fighting on the ground."

Report Five Transports Sunk
"Five transport ships were sunk and three cruisers or destroyers as well as 10 merchantmen totalling 70,000 tons were severely damaged by bomb hits."

"A flotilla of motor torpedo boats sank one enemy destroyer and one submarine. This brought the number of ships destroyed to 11."

PA NEW OBSERVES

New Castle speakers were much in demand in other places on Memorial Day, it would seem. Judge W. Walter Braham gave the address of the day in the exercises which took place at Freedom, while C. W. Herman Hess was the speaker at Rochester. Guy J. Wadlinger spoke at West View, in the Pittsburgh district.

Another huge class of New Castle high school is about to be graduated. Baccalaureate services will take place on Sunday evening at the Cathedral auditorium, and next week, diplomas will be given to 375.

Today is the first day of June. Weather conditions this morning, however, more resembled an October day, than the "rare days of June."

Lawn mowers have to be kept in almost continuous operation at some of the large lawns around the city, these days. The rainy weather certainly is to the liking of the growing grass.

A number of the firemen at Central Station are appearing in new lightweight uniforms, which they recently ordered, and which were delivered today.

Congress Ponders Import Of President's Request For Mobilization Power

By GEORGE DUROO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Congress today pondered full import of President Roosevelt's request for emergency authority to mobilize the National Guard at will as the administration rushed its five billion dollar preparedness program for "the critical days which lie ahead."

Although the president had solemnly warned there was distinct possibility of a cataclysmic "world wide war" in the not too distant future, three members of the senate raised their voices in immediate protest.

Challenge President's Desires
Those who challenged the chief executive's desire for authority to mobilize the National Guard were Senators Vandenberg (R) Mich., Bridges (R) N. H., and Wheeler (D) Mont.—All three 1940 presidential aspirants.

The War department hastily announced there was no intention "at this time" to call the guard "wholly or partially" into active service, but Vandenberg, Bridges and Wheeler took the general position that congress alone possessed such extraor-

United States Building Navy Second To None; Battleship Is Launched

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—National defense leaders, gathered at ceremonies attending the launching of the U. S. S. Washington, first new American battleship to be completed in 19 years, today told the world that the United States is building a navy second to none.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Lewis Compton expressed the hope that the new dreadnaught's guns may never be used in battle but added "if we ever need them, we will strike with all the fierceness of a people who are determined to yield to no aggressor."

"We are now determined to build as many and as mighty men-of-war, planes and tanks and other aggressor stoppers as the situation demands," Compton asserted.

Build For Defense

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, chairman of the senate naval affairs committee, asserted this government is building a navy "of such size, efficiency and power" that no combination of enemies would "dare assault us."

At the same time Walsh answered congressional critics of the navy program who have asked whether it is being built for defense or offense.

"Our navy is for defense, not for aggression," he said. "It is for peace, not war."

Walsh explained that the United States scrapped 30 naval vessels at a

By GEORGE DUROO

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Creation of a "foreign unit" of the U. S. marines to be divided between the east and west coasts and to be available for emergency duty abroad, was announced today by the navy department as congress pondered over President Roosevelt's request for emergency authority to mobilize the national guard.

The new naval unit was made possible by Mr. Roosevelt's recent recommended increase of 9,000 men in the corps as a whole. It will be divided between Parris Island, S. C., and San Diego, Calif.

The Parris Island unit will include the seventh marine regimental headquarters and a service company, three infantry battalions and one battalion of the 11th marine regiment (artillery).

The San Diego unit will be composed of the third battalion of the sixth marine regiment (infantry), the third battalion of the eighth regiment and the second battalion of the 10th regiment. Two other battalions are to be organized, their assignment being announced at a later date.

PARIS, June 1.—Defeat of a German attack on the Somme river front and desperate fighting around Dunkerque, where units of the British expeditionary force in Flanders are embarking for England, were announced by the French high command today.

The communique indicated that action along the Somme river front is increasing. At the same time it stressed the "complete solidarity" of the French and British forces in the Dunkerque area, where the French are covering the British withdrawal. "French and British land, sea and air forces continue in complete solidarity their desperate fight at Dunkerque, resisting the German onslaught to ensure the evacuation," the communique stated.

"The enemy, showing the importance which he attaches to a crossing of the Somme River, counter-attacked in that region."

"This counter-attack was repulsed."

Thorough Search Is Made Of Liner

U. S. President Roosevelt Is Searched Prior To Embarking With Refugees

(International News Service)
GALWAY, Ireland, June 1.—Authorities today searched the United States liner President Roosevelt from keel to crow's nest as a precaution against sabotage while American war zone refugees crowded into Galway for the ship's sailing later in the day.

An estimated 100 tons of baggage was turned over to the searchers for minute examination. It was reported unofficially that the intense scouring given the President Roosevelt was at the special request of Washington authorities, who feared a sabotage plot against the liner.

When the President Roosevelt approached Galway yesterday, the vessel narrowly missed disaster on the rocks of Liscannor Bay, near the cliffs of Moher.

Although shrouded in a heavy fog, the plight of the liner was seen by the coast guard. A boat was put out to assist the President Roosevelt, but traversed only a few hundred yards when the fog suddenly lifted briefly, enabling the liner's master to regain his bearings and veer clear.

LONDON, June 1.—Viscount Gort turned his command of the British expeditionary force over to a lesser superior officer today and returned to London as the heroic British evacuation from the Flanders death trap appeared to be all but complete.

First announced in an official communique, Viscount Gort's return was immediately interpreted by neutral quarters as the most encouraging news since the first British withdrawals from Flanders under the seething Nazi bombardment.

Previous statements had indicated the veteran commander would be the last man to leave the embattled area. Unofficial reports indicated that only one B. E. F. division remains in Flanders tonight.

Immediately upon his arrival Viscount Gort was received by the king who bestowed upon him the Knight Grand Cross of the Order of Bath for his brilliant work in directing history's greatest troop evacuation.

Official Communique

The official communique announcing the commander's return was cryptic but encouraging. It stated:

Soviet Army May Move Into Balkans

Ready To Move If Need Arises

Three Million Men Under Arms—Will Resist Balkan Domination

WATCHING HITLER AND MUSSOLINI

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, June 1.—The giant army of Soviet Russia is ready to move into the Balkans if Moscow's interests there are threatened by either Italy or Germany, according to reliable information reaching Washington today.

Although nominally an ally of Adolf Hitler, Russia's chief, Joseph Stalin, was reported to be ready to resist any attempt of either Der Fuehrer or Premier Mussolini of Italy to control the Balkan countries or the eastern Mediterranean.

Has 3,000,000 Under Arms
According to the latest estimates, Russia has something more than 3,000,000 men under arms. Of these, approximately 600,000 are in the Far East as guardians against a possible Japanese invasion. The remainder is stationed in European Russia, the great bulk of its disposition being along the Romanian frontier.

From that point they could march into Bessarabia, former Russian province, lost to Romania after the World war, if either Italy or Germany moved into that part of the world.

The number of Russians actively under arms, however, is only a minor fraction of the army that the Soviets could mobilize. This is estimated at 15,000,000 men, as compulsory military training has been in effect in the Soviet Union for the last 17 years.

Lost Equipment
According to reliable informants, Russia's army lost heavily in mechanized equipment during the Russo-Finnish war, although its reduction of man-power was insignificant.

Casualties in Finland were estimated at approximately 225,000 men killed or wounded in battle, while some 50,000 more were said to have lost arms or legs—incapacitating them for further military service—as the result of frost-bite.

The air corps was said to have lost a large number of planes in Finland. Its present strength was described as large numerically, although, since 1937, its planes have been backward in performance in comparison with those of other ranking air powers.

The Finnish war, however, had very little effect upon Russia's basic economic equipment. There was no damage to transportation lines or basic industry.

CONGRESS PONDER IMPORT OF REQUEST

inary mobilization powers. The two Republican senators suggested congress should remain in continuous session if such a grave emergency existed as implied and Wheeler agreed such power should not be turned over to the White House.

In the house there was a less immediate objection. Members speculated privately over what had impelled Mr. Roosevelt to ask for the authority that rests in peacetime only with the various state governments.

"German Agents in Mexico?"
Rep. Dies (D) Tex., chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities, voiced the thoughts of some when he said he had "increasing evidence that German agents are pouring into Mexico."

There have been persistent rumors in Washington that a revolution will accompany the forthcoming presidential elections in the neighboring republic south of the Rio Grande.

The navy announced the 10,000 ton Cruiser Quincy is proceeding to Latin-America on a "friendly visit" with stops scheduled at various southern ports including Rio de Janeiro. Officials said the voyage had no special significance.

President Roosevelt's request on congress was that he be granted authority to call into active service such portion of the National Guard as may be deemed necessary to maintain our position of neutrality and to safeguard the national defense, this to include authority to call into active service the necessary reserve personnel.

War Department Statement
The official War department statement said that, contrary to desiring such a move, the military command was "pressing to avoid such a necessity." It was emphasized, however, that should events point more definitely to American involvement in war it would be desirable to permit "the seasoning and training" of the National Guard in the field—a business which would take a minimum of several months.

Bridges issued a statement thru the Republican National committee saying he was "utterly amazed" at the president's request. He said "war-making powers, even if for defense, rest with congress."

Vandenberg argued the president apparently was seeking power "to at least partially mobilize the nation without consulting congress, and after congress goes away." Wheeler agreed such power should not be granted the president.

House leaders predicted confidently that Mr. Roosevelt's $3,300,000,000 army and navy bills, including his original January estimates and his first emergency request on May 16, would finally pass before the coming week ends and go to the White House for signature.

over his command of the remaining troops to a lesser senior officer and returned to London this morning.

The latest estimate that Lord Gort left behind only a single division in Flanders was based on opinions expressed by latest troops to arrive in England.

It was not, however, confirmed by official quarters in London, where no figures have yet been released for publication.

Some authoritative quarters thought the one division estimate "slightly optimistic."

Thousands of French Arrive
Thousands of French troops arrived in English ports during the morning, including colonial forces and French gunners who have been training heavy artillery in the Ypres sector.

These new forces reached the British Isles as ship after ship of Britain's "ferry armada" came bursting through a storm of German shells and bombs, laden with fighting men evacuated from the Flanders "pocket."

British officials contended that a high percentage of the British evacuated from the French side of the channel so fast that there was scarcely time to get unloaded vessels out of the way.

Some ships thus were forced to moor alongside empty vessels while the troops scrambled across the decks to get ashore.

High Total Evacuated
Exact figures are not permitted to be divulged, but were informed sources said the "remarkable procession" of withdrawals yesterday and last night bring the total very high.

When the figures are announced, they said, the results will give the nation a "thrill of satisfaction."

The French troops covering the British withdrawal are paying a heavy price, however, and officials said their losses because of the heroic nature of the rearguard actions they fought and are still fighting in Flanders will be extremely high.

British newspapers continued to publish column upon column of stories of heroism and adventure and both the press and the British people virtually ran out of adjectives in praise of the Allied officers and troops.

ACTION ALONG SOMME RIVER IS INCREASING

Fascist grand council is scheduled to meet under chairmanship of Premier Mussolini.

Most of the French headlines stated that Italy had broken off negotiations with the Allies abruptly.

Authoritative military information in Paris indicated that the situation of an important fraction of the army led by General Renejaques-Adolf Prioux daily is becoming "more difficult" as it battles its spectacular rearguard action in an attempt to pound its way through the hills of Flanders to the sea.

The Germans yesterday slackened their attacks upon Dunkerque and the Yser River and concentrated once more upon locking up the mountains to prevent the Prioux army from retreating, it was stated.

During yesterday's "lull"—which meant the Germans attacked Dunkerque by bombing mine-laying and torpedo boat charges, but did not use infantry, tanks and artillery—the defenders of the wrecked port were given time to complete installation of fortifications such as groundworks and trenches.

Situation Unchanged
A military spokesman said the situation remained virtually unchanged in this region with the arrivals of ships and the departure of troops practically normal despite German air and sea attacks.

Franco-British aviation as well as efficient Allied naval action permitted the embarkations with only minor losses, according to the spokesman.

It was stated that a large part of the Prioux army—that part which already has reached Dunkerque—was in excellent shape and apparently had retired in good order. They were said to be participating in defense zone action around the port.

The spokesman indicated it was possible the Allies might hold on at Dunkerque permanently, now that coastal fortifications have been prepared and the garrison strengthened.

Meanwhile, on the Somme, the Germans started a new action. Although they used only small effective defensive line of the French defense line at several places.

One attack of 2,000 men was launched against a French bridgehead on the north bank of the river but this attack was repulsed without difficulty. Later in the day, and at the same place, the Germans launched a new attack, this time using tanks preceded by dive bombers.

This attack was characterized as "fruitless" while the French inflicted heavy German losses.

The spokesman emphasized the high command's extreme encouragement over the break-up of this so-called classic method of German offensive.

Word was received here today of the death of Mrs. A. Stella McDonald Moore, wife of Rev. Samuel H. Moore, in Eustis, Florida. Death occurred in Eustis, Florida, Friday, May 31.

Many years ago the Moores resided in New Castle when Rev. Moore was the pastor of the Central Presbyterian church. Later they went to Wilkesburg where Rev. Moore served the First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Moore was one of the last members of the old Andrew McDonald family of Aliquippa. Surviving her in addition to her husband are two sisters, Mrs. Stephen P. Sutton of Aliquippa and Dr. Frances McDonald Wallace of Eustis, Fla. Funeral services were held today in Eustis, with interment on Tuesday June 4, in Beaver, Pa.

Frank Lester Bell
Complications of one week's duration resulted in the death of Frank Lester Bell, aged 72, a highly respected citizen of Volant, who passed away at his late residence at midnight Friday.

Mr. Bell was born in Volant, October 23, 1867, son of John and Mary Heasley Bell, and spent his entire lifetime in that community. He was a miner by occupation and had been a faithful member of the Volant Methodist church for many years. For 48 years he had been married to Martha Ann Taylor Bell, who survives him.

In addition to his wife, he leaves the following children: Mrs. A. T. Hutsler of Volant, Mrs. Eliza Wallace of Volant, D. I.; one brother, Charles Bell of Volant; one sister, Mary Minnihan of New Castle; seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

MILITARY PLANS

On this occasion there was also a comprehensive exchange of military plans, and intentions in the immediate future.

New Mediation Attempt?
London, June 1.—Belief prevailed in certain London quarters today that Italian intervention in the European war may be preceded by a new mediation attempt on the part of Premier Mussolini.

In this attempt, it was predicted, 11 Duce might offer the Anglo-French allies a peace plan on behalf of Chancellor Hitler.

Possibility also was seen that such a plan, if offered, might be accompanied by an ultimatum stating that unless the peace proposals were accepted Italy will be compelled to join Germany in war against Britain and France.

It was stated authoritatively, however, that the British government is not the least bit disposed to consider such proposals, which obviously would be in the nature of "victory terms" designed to satisfy both Hitler and Mussolini.

The Allies, authorities declared, have been watching the Mediterranean situation calmly. It was added that they have gone far to meet the Italian "legitimate aspirations" both now and for the future.

But in view of the latest indications of Italian "intransigence," it was stated, it is now "obvious" that the actual choice for peace or war regarding Italy is out of Allied hands.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 1.—Denouncing the alliance between Hitler and Mussolini as a "one way ride" destined to end in disaster for Italy, Geoffredo Pantaleoni resigned today as head of the local Italian tourist information office which he has headed for many years.

If Hitler wins the present war with Italy's aid, he will in the end turn on Italy and later perhaps invade the Americas, Pantaleoni charged. He announced plans to work against "fifth column" activities.

BUCHNER-DUNLAP WEDDING IN CHURCH

At a pretty ceremony performed this morning at 10:30 o'clock, in the First United Presbyterian church, Miss Sophia Caroline Buchner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Buchner, 1610 Albert street, became the bride of Forrest Bruce Dunlap, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn C. Dunlap, 1408 Bryson St., Youngstown.

Dr. S. E. Irvine, pastor of the church, officiated with the double ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate families, relatives and friends of the couple.

For her wedding, the bride chose a light blue lace dress, street length with white accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of red roses and lilies of the valley. The couple was unattended.

Preceding the ceremony, a fifteen minute program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Jean Haug, organist, and during the ceremony, she played softly, "I Love You Truly."

Immediately afterwards, there was a reception at the Buchner home for families and relatives, following which Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap left for a short wedding trip.

The bride is a graduate of New Castle high school and has been employed as an operator at the Bell Telephone company. The bridegroom, a graduate of Slippery Rock high school, is associated with the Johns-Manville Co. in Youngstown.

Out of town guests at the wedding were from Warren, O. Butler, Punxsutawney, Franklin and Ellwood City.

PUPILS-PARENTS HONOR MISS PERRY AT CASCADE

A complete surprise and a most delightful occasion on the week's calendar of activities, was the party given Miss Anna Perry, when all pupils, including both former and present, together with their parents from Thaddeus Stevens, Terrace Avenue, W. N. Aiken and Lincoln and Garfield schools, assembled at Cascade Park in the new "Community Theatre" Friday.

A special program was arranged for the event, with a program being given on the theatre stage by Grace A. pupils. At the close, the honoree was presented with several beautiful gifts, as tokens from the pupils and the parents, in high esteem of which she is held. Guests numbering upwards of 250 participated.

Later, journeying to the picnic grove, the group was served a picnic supper at the covered picnic tables, bringing the occasion to a close.

Miss Perry, principal has taught in the New Castle schools for many years, and she is now retiring. She responded graciously to those gathered, for the lovely party planned in her honor.

COURT STREET UNIT HAS LUNCHEON, GUESTS

Court Street Unit members and guests of Epworth Methodist church, enjoyed an informal social time Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. H. Wigton, Spruce street, who entertained at a covered dish luncheon.

At 1 o'clock, the group of eighteen sat down at the prettily arranged tables, colorfully appointed in the season's suggestions, where they were served a delicious menu. The hostess was aided by Mrs. J. P. Dunkerly and Mrs. Ray Bishop. Special guests included Rev. and Mrs. William Thornton, Mrs. C. L. Sipe, Mrs. William Mitchell and daughter Florence and Mrs. C. G. Miller.

With a period of relaxation being called, the assemblage enjoyed a short program. Misses Stella Lapinsky and Dorothy Low played with duet song and guitar numbers.

A short business meeting ensued with president, Mrs. Ray Bishop, in charge. She announced on her nominating committee for the next election, Mrs. J. H. Wigton and Mrs. Mary Celer.

The next regular meeting will be in the nature of a 1 o'clock luncheon with Mrs. Charles Andrews of Court street, hostess, on June 19.

ENGAGEMENT NEWS REVEALED AT PARTY

A birthday party and surprise gift shower was held in honor of Dorothy Smith, when a group of friends numbering to 30, gathered at her residence, 405 South Walnut street, on a recent evening.

On this occasion the engagement of the honoree, Dorothy Smith, daughter of Mrs. George W. Smith, to Kirk Pattison, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Pattison, of 718 Court street, was cleverly announced with a network of strings at the end of which were photos of the young couple and the date "October, 1940."

The guests, members of the Junior Business Girls club enjoyed informal diversions with dancing and games. A tasty lunch was served at a late hour, the birthday motif predominating with Mrs. John Campbell, sister of the honoree, and Mrs. Charles Hennon, aiding.

Miss Smith received a lovely collection of gifts in remembrance of the happy occasion.

HI-LO-BRIDGE CLUB GUESTS FRIDAY NIGHT

The home of Mrs. Joseph Carson on Cunningham avenue, was the scene of a delightful informal meeting, when she entertained as guests, the Hi-Lo Bridge club membership at their bi-weekly session.

Cards were in progress as the diversion, with honor prizes going to Miss Frances Gibson, Mrs. Wilfred Hoyland and Mrs. James Boris at the close of play. Lunch was served afterwards by the hostess, places marking for all club members and one guest Mrs. Raymond McCartney. She received a lovely hostess token.

On Friday, June 14, the club will meet with Miss Gibson, 1420 Neshannock Boulevard.

MRS. REBECCA STRONG HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Rebecca Strong was taken completely by surprise Friday evening when a number of her friends gathered in her Neshannock avenue home to help her celebrate her 70th anniversary. The event took the form of a handkerchief shower, Mrs. Strong receiving an array of lovely "hankies".

Games were enjoyed during the evening hours with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Evelyn Woods and Mrs. Tempe Sickle. At the conclusion of play a delicious lunch was served by the committee composed of Mrs. Beatrice McNicholas, Mrs. Irene Cage, Mrs. Nell Nowling and Mrs. Betty Stoner.

S. E. Club

Mrs. L. A. Fehrenbach was the recipient of one of the high score prizes and also the galloper Friday evening at the S. E. club which met at the home of Mrs. E. L. Cannon of Elizabeth street.

Other prize winners were Mrs. Dorothy Bird, and Mrs. E. L. Cannon.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Ed. Koonce.

On June 13 the club will meet at the home of Mrs. A. Hunter, of Carson St.

Observance Anniversary

Wesley Cartwright, of 509 Court street, is quietly observing his eighty-sixth birthday anniversary today. Mr. Cartwright is a retired iron and steel worker, having been employed in several of the initial iron and steel plants in this community. He received a number of nice birthday cards, and friends called to extend their best wishes. Mr. Cartwright is in fair health.

RAINBOW BOARD DISCUSSES PLANS

At the monthly meeting of the Advisory Board of New Castle Assembly No. 1, Order of the Rainbow for Girls which took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Allen, of Winter avenue, Friday evening, approval was given of plans which the order has made for future activities.

At the close of the evening, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Charles H. Young and Mrs. L. A. Wygant.

SENIORS ENJOY 'PROM' AT SCHOOL

Highlighting the social curriculum of the Senior A graduating class of the local high school was the Senior Prom which took place in the gymnasium of the school, Lincoln avenue and Reis street, Friday evening.

Over 250 seniors, the girls prettily attired in their new spring dresses, and wearing traditional dink caps, and the boys with light clothes, danced from 8:00 to 12:00 to the strains of popular tunes, provided by a local orchestra. The gymnasium was cleverly decorated with the Senior A class colors, red and white.

During the intermission period, Miss Beatrice Drumheller, accompanied by the orchestra presented a series of lovely ball dances. Beryl Morgan, Madge Shriver and Marvina Stenger sang several pretty trio numbers, also accompanied by the orchestra. During the entire period, refreshments were served.

Guest chaperones were Professor and Mrs. F. L. Orth, Marjorie Rhodes, Elizabeth Parker, Norman Nelson and William Klee. Sharing honors as special guests were Elizabeth Williams, supervisor of the graduating class, and Donald Copson, supervisor of the January class.

Success of the event is due to the untiring efforts of the committee heads and their aides. The chairmen were: Carol Henderson, decoration; Georgianna Truby, program; Joseph Johnston, entertainment; James Alexander, guest chaperones; James Cherol, advertising; Fred McKee, tickets; and Arthur Grimm, refreshments.

1934 CLUB MEMBERS GUESTS AT TEA ROOM

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Fritz, of Fairmont avenue, were hosts to members of the 1934 club at a delightful dinner held recently in a suburban tea room.

Informal diversions were enjoyed with dancing and card playing, high score trophies being awarded to Mrs. Willard Belknap, Charles Andrew, Harvey Cooper and Mrs. Harry Flinn.

The door trophy was captured by Harry Stenger.

Later the dinner was served to guests and members numbering 20, at a pretty appointed table.

Class Entertainments

Members of the Sabbath School class of Mrs. H. K. Bell of the Trinity church entertained the class of Miss Eleanor Colgan, Friday evening, at the Bell residence on Garfield avenue.

A wiener roast was enjoyed by all twenty guests, and evening hours were passed in games and music.

FRAZIER-BAKER NEWS ANNOUNCED AT PARTY

In surprise fashion Mr. and Mrs. Donald Baker, nee Ethel Frazier, announced their marriage at a shower party Friday evening, given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Robinson, West Washington street.

The latter couple invited guests, which included friends, relatives and associates of the Play-Email club, to their home as a medium of having a pre-nuptial shower for the couple, but were pleasantly surprised when the two announced their marriage.

The couple were married May 22, which is the date of the bride's mother's birthday anniversary, in Zellenople, by Rev. Sieberling. Attending the couple were Twila Houk of this city and Charles Bareis of Harmony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Frazier of the Harlansburg road, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Baker of Harmony.

Monday morning, June 3, the couple will depart on a motor trip through Kentucky and the eastern coast, returning home in two weeks. They will take up residence on Milton street, Zellenople, where the groom is an employee of the Ruebright Transfer firm.

Cards were provided, and winners were Mrs. Russell Phillips, Donald Baker, Mrs. Jennie Grove and the honoree. Refreshments were served, with Doris and Shirley Phillips aiding.

The couple received an array of miscellaneous gifts.

Special guests sharing honors were Mr. and Mrs. John Grove, Mrs. Russell Phillips, Mrs. Wilbert Frazier.

STATE HIGHWAY GIRLS HONOR MRS. R. LANIGAN

Honoring Mrs. Ralph Lanigan, nee Jane Horchler, a bride of recent date, her former co-workers of the State High offices gathered for a get-together at the home of Mrs. Paul Linsley on Manor avenue, Friday evening, the event taking the form of a miscellaneous shower.

Tables of 500 were in play, with Mrs. Wayne Dahl capturing the top score trophy.

When lunch time arrived, the group was seated around the dining room table, which was colorfully appointed in tones of blue and yellow. In serving a dainty repast, the hostess was aided by her mother, Mrs. Carolyn Linsley.

A shower of handsome and serviceable gifts were received by Mrs. Lanigan for use in her home.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SLOW TALKERS MAY BE BRIGHT

WHILE IT IS true that the child noticeably defective mentally begins speech very late, not nearly all children slow in beginning formal speech are feeble minded, or even dull. Indeed some of them are very bright. The baby may have acquired an effective sign language which has been so well obeyed, that he finds no occasion to employ conventional speech. Then defective hearing may retard speech, since it hinders the child from hearing his own vocal sounds.

A mother writes from Canada: "Dear Dr. Myers:—I have a little girl two and a half years old. She is a rather smart child. She understands everything you say to her and knows what everything is. She is not deaf. But as yet she can say only: Cup, mama and Daddy, door, book, boat and river. Any other words I try to teach her, she just grunts. I have tried not giving her a drink or anything else she wants until she will say what it is, but have had no results. . . . She has been saying these few words I mentioned for over a year now. She has a sister four years old with whom she plays and still it doesn't seem to help her to talk. . . . Please tell me what is best to do for her."

Reading To Child Effective
The mother enclosed a self-addressed stamped envelope. My reply:

Attract other children to play with this child. Don't insist that she talk. Read aloud to her a great deal. Then let her alone. You can be pretty sure her speech will develop normally, since she started with real words in good time. I have come across a number of such cases which turned out well. It might be well, however, to have a doctor examine her.

For your comfort and the comfort of other mothers with a like problem, let me tell you that you have almost exactly described my eldest son when he was about at the same age as your child is now. Like your child, he started to talk when he was a year old, developed a small array of words and then, until in his third year, added very few words, after which he took a spurt and made up for lost time. That lad is now on his last lap for his doctor's degree in Plant Physiology, at Minnesota University.

Solving Parents Problems
Q. What do you think of bringing up children to do only what they want to do and when they want to do it?

A. I consider it about the most atrocious doctrine that prevails. How would you like to spend your life with a person brought up on this doctrine.

FOR BETTER OR FOR WORSE
They vowed "for better or for worse."

"Tis thus the marriage vow is said,
That phrase the white-robed priests rehearse
With every man and maid they wed.

"For better or for worse," they say,
Repeating it with trembling lip,
And from the altar turn away
To start a lifetime comradeship.

The better can be lightly borne,
With better comes no frown or tear.

It is the worse that wears the thorn,
The worse that love should learn to fear.

"For better or for worse," they swear,
"God grant they mean it well," I pray.
And when shall come the blight of care
Let worse not drive their love away.

THE TERRIBLE-TEMPERED MR. BANG STAGES A ONE-MAN TRACK MEET

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:24. Sun rises tomorrow 4:30.

If Mr. Wilkes is as popular all over the United States as he is in New Castle he will be the next president of the United States. A business man is needed now for president. We have had politicians long enough.

If excess automobile horn blowing is not disorderly conduct we would like to know what is if loud noises were made by yells on the streets a regiment of cops would be on the spot right away.

Slogan twenty-three years ago: "The Yanks are coming!" New version: "How come the Yanks can't get started?"

THE FARMER FEEDS US ALL
It is the man who tills the soil.
The man who sows the grain.
The man of honest, earnest toil.
Who labors not for gain.
The man who has a will to work
And knows this is his call.
Who has no aim nor plan to shirk.
Who clothes and feeds us all.

He labors long and weary hours
Through days of cold and heat,
Delights to see the sun and show's
To ripen up the wheat.
Or make the corn and meadows grow.
The gardens, fruit and such.
That he may gather, reap and mow
And furnish others much.

The shops and mills and factories,
The store and close their doors
And work of every kind we do
On lands and seas and shores
Would cease if farmers all should stop.
By going on a strike.
Because they do not reach the top
In prices which they like.

God bless the farmer, day by day;
He surely feeds us all.
Although he gets but little pay
Upon this earthly ball;
But may he live so godly here
That when he comes to die
He'll have the Lord his soul to cheer
And take him home on high.

He may not get his laurels now,
Nor enter halls of fame.
And men and nations may not bow
In homage to his name;
But if he lives and pleases God
He'll soar where fame cannot,
Then walk the streets where angels tread
With Abraham and Lot.

PERSISTENT

Troubled events in Europe give new point to some old stories. There is one about the time the Germans captured a little French town and began interviewing the inhabitants who had remained.

One old fellow proved very annoying by making remarks about the terrible battle the French put up before the Germans overwhelmed them by force of numbers. Finally the German officer in charge could stand it no longer.

If America gets into another world war it should clean up all the bad spots in Europe before our men come back home.

Asked to define a mirage, a school boy said it was another name for a wedding.

Omygosh! Now there is talk of having showers for men before they get married. They always have had them, but they came from bottles.

After some people jump from one political party to another for a time they usually find themselves out of a job and no political party wants them.

It looks like as if there will be a slump in June weddings this year at least in states where it will cost about $12 to get a license.

Maybe we get our pay right here. Parents who worry about their daughter are the ones who worried their parents about twenty years ago.

Now that marriages are getting fewer, in some places the causes for the great number of divorces is being investigated. One thing we must have in this country is married people.

A SYSTEM

Asked to describe what graft is one of our politician friends said it is a system that eventually makes a large number of people apologize constantly because they haven't got any money, while the remainder have to go before grand juries all the time and explain how they got their money.

Leahy Scheduled For Defense Post
Can Make Puerto Rico Invulnerable
Retired Admiral Considered Authority

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

SO MUCH gloomy talk has been going the rounds in Washington recently concerning Uncle Sam's unpreparedness for international trouble that it sounded good the other day to hear Governor William D. Leahy of Puerto Rico report that the Caribbean can be made invulnerable inside two months.

Leahy, a retired admiral, knows what he's talking about.

And it's a foregone conclusion that no foreign power can manage much of a blitzkrieg in the Caribbean in as short a time as two months.

Planes, the admiral admits, might get past our anti-aircraft defense, but he says it wouldn't be worth their while unless quickly supported by strong landing parties, which couldn't run an American blockade, he asserts.

In short, the admiral is very well pleased with the Caribbean military, naval and aviation conditions, but he pronounces Puerto Rican economics deplorable, with unemployment rampant.

There's talk of the admiral, by the way, for a new defensive post.

Army Of Navy Portfolio

President Roosevelt is said to have him in mind for the army or navy portfolio, if only Secretary of War Woodring or Naval Secretary Edison would resign, creating a cabinet vacancy.

The trouble is, they both have been so slow about doing it.

The White House is said to have been tempting Secretary Woodring with offers of the United States legation in Canada, as successor to James C. Crowell, lately resigned.

And Woodring is reported to think favorably of the appointment, not having been a howling success as secretary of war, whereas he's socially admirably qualified to shine as our diplomatic representative in Ottawa. But apparently he simply can't quite make up his mind to quit, as the executive mansion so ardently wishes he would, yet hesitates to put the ax under him.

Edison, on his part, was nominated governor of New Jersey, and the assumption was that he'd resign his portfolio and campaign for the elective position. But somehow he evidently doesn't care to drop out of the cabinet, either.

The navy department has become tremendously important recently, and the secretary presumably doesn't fancy the notion of quitting the national limelight for a mere governorship.

The upshot is that the president has hanging fire two tentative cabinet resignations that he'd be extremely glad to have the acceptance of.

His Own Machine

The situation is one in which the White House has been getting some of his own medicine.

As we all know, he has kept all other Democratic presidential aspirants on the anxious seat, wondering, "Is he going to run again, or isn't he?" Their own plans depended on his decision, and he wouldn't reveal it.

This time he has a couple of cabinet members on his hands, and wants to know, "Are they going to resign or aren't they?"

And they won't tell him—haven't made up their own minds, in all probability—just as he probably hadn't made up his own mind when folk quizzed him on the third term issue.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

MOBILIZATION

Should war come to the U. S. A., you'd be in it!

How vastly military science has changed from times when only fighting men were called to the colors is revealed by national mobilization plans of the Army general staff. Already millions of Americans, of all ages and occupations, are catalogued in War Department files. Only young, able-bodied men would be drafted directly into the Army, Navy and Air forces. But if you are a fisherman, just beyond the bloom of youth, you might find yourself and your boat laying mines outside some American harbor.

As an operator of trucks, you might suddenly be using your equipment to help prepare the runways for an air base. As a welder, you and your tools might, overnight, be called from peaceful construction to the building of bombers. And that mobilization of the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker, along with the soldier, would come with lightning swiftness, according to general staff plans worked out to the last detail.

The will to peace is yet the strongest force against war. But if America ever again should be forced into conflict, the supreme objective would be to defend this nation successfully; and if such sweeping mobilization of industry and labor would be essential to that end, it is well to have it planned and ready.

So, to all intents and purposes, whoever you are and whatever you do—you're in the Army now!

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

by The Baltimore Sun (Copyright, 1940)

The President's Board

WASHINGTON, June 1. WHATEVER the voters decide in November to do about the next President, Mr. Roosevelt will be President until January, 1941. Therefore, for the next seven months the critical job of strengthening our armed forces upon which we are now embarked will be in his hands. It must be done his way or not at all.

THIS being the inescapable fact, those who oppose a third term, as well as those who favor it, have no excuse for not cooperating so far as they can to make the machinery of government work successfully to the result. However, as the President himself says, we are not at war, and it is not in the national interest to suspend criticism or comment, despite the effort of a certain element among his supporters to make anything except subservient acquiescence seem reasonable and unpatriotic.

AS a matter of fact, it seems distinctly in the general interest to point out what appear to be mistakes and deficiencies of Administration methods and proposals. Unless this is done, there will be no corrective influence and we will be proceeding on an extremely vital business on the assumption that the Administration is the embodiment of wisdom and can make no mistake. It is an assumption for which there certainly is little in the past seven years to sustain. Hence, while the appointment of a seven-member board to assist in the execution of the defense program is a move in the right direction, there are certain things about the set-up are disturbing to those whose primary concern is the job.

FOR one thing, while Mr. Roosevelt, in Mr. Stettinius, Mr. Knudsen and Mr. Budd, has named three outstanding industrialists, he has, in Mr. Hillman, the labor leader; Mr. Clegg, the farm leader and jobholder; Mr. Leon Henderson, the SEC member, and Miss Harriett Eliott, the university dean and social service expert, named four ardent New Dealers and third-termers, whose attitude toward business can hardly be regarded as friendly. It is a little difficult to see how the two elements on this board are going to work differences, not because the three industrialists presumably are not third-termers and the four New Dealers are, but because of the wide gap between their views as to how best to get results.

FOR example, the three businessmen know perfectly well that to do this job with the maximum efficiency and the minimum cost, without waste of both time and money, it will be necessary to cut some of the red tape which hampers the governmental departments and relax some of the provisions of the New Deal legislation which cramp the activities of business, add to the cost of production and stand in the way of speed and efficiency. In brief, they know that unless some of the so-called social legislation is suspended or modified or repealed, there can be no such thing as quick action or reasonable cost.

ON the other hand, the four New Dealers can be depended upon to take the view that, whatever happens, there must be no retreat from the New Deal "social reforms" that these must be held intact; that there can be no relaxing or modification. That view has already been expressed by Mr. Roosevelt, who, indeed, in his fireside chat insisted that these social reforms should be extended rather than curtailed, voiced the hope that industrialists might see fit to raise wages and lower hours instead of the reverse.

THIS, to many, seems more a political appeal than a practical policy calculated to utilize every resource we have in the most effective possible way. But it is undoubtedly the view for which the four New Dealers on the board will stand and which Mr. Roosevelt and his Cabinet members who have the power will support. Thus, almost at the beginning there is bound to be a cleavage in the board, unless the industrialists supinely suppress their convictions. In any event, the industrialists will be outnumbered on the board and without authority to implement their beliefs. Also, they will be out-tanked. The presence of Mr. Henderson, who holds all Administrative records for sheer garrulity, insures that.

AS to authority, it is not plain that Mr. Roosevelt intends to confer any real authority upon the individual members. Apparently they are to function under the departmental heads—Woodring, Hopkins, Edison, Perkins, Morgenthau and Jackson; and these, of course, function under the President. This is vastly different from the set-up in the World War of 1917, when Mr. B. M. Baruch, as head of the War Industries Board, was wholly independent of Cabinet members responsible only to the President, who supported him in every particular. That set-up got remarkable results. This one, it is to be hoped, will too; but it is a very different set-up just the same.

SPEEDY REFUGEE AID

AID to French, Dutch and Belgian refugees is on its way overseas in a Red Cross ship, flying the Red Cross flag, whose sailing and course have been made known to the Nazis lest she be molested.

This is not, of course, the first aid that has been sent. Some 1,800 pounds of surgical dressings with medicines for use in brain operations have been dispatched by trans-Atlantic clipper by way of the Azores, and already the cables have flashed a credit of $600,000 to be distributed by the European representative of the American Red Cross through the French Red Cross and other agencies.

The Red Cross ship, which sailed from Jersey City, carries about $1,000,000 worth of supplies. It will be followed by many others as the campaign for a fund of $20,000,000, now under way throughout the country, nears fruition. Time presses. The refugees streaming into and through France are in dire need. That is why this ship bears food, clothing and medical supplies. They are much more needed at this juncture, it is reported from France, than physicians and nurses, of whom France has an adequate present supply.

On the ship are 100 hospital trucks, but 150 ambulances, not yet ready for delivery, will have to be in the next cargo. Since civilian refugees in France and Belgium number approximately 5,000,000, it is beyond the power of any privately maintained agency to care for them.

But the heart quickens at the thought of relief for urgent cases speeding from America across thousands of miles of sea, as it has sped before and will speed again in enterprises of mercy pressed by this organization.

THE HATCH BILL GETS RIGHT OF WAY

In approving the new Hatch Bill, already passed by the senate, the House Judiciary Committee tardily atones for its course in obstructing this highly meritorious measure.

The purpose of this bill is to extend the same protection against the political coercion to state officials, paid wholly or in part from federal funds, as is afforded regular federal employees by the present Hatch law.

It would also prevent what amounts to the use of federal treasury money for campaign purposes and keep officials from using their positions to promote political candidacies.

When this measure came before it, the House Committee tabled the bill in secret session.

The force of public opinion, rather probably, than a sense of shame, has compelled the committee to reverse its action. It is now the duty of the house to accept its committee's recommendation and pass this clean politics bill before the coming campaign.

THE AIR STEWARDESSES

Stewardess service on America's commercial air lines is only ten years old. Eight young women were employed ten years ago and told that their jobs were strictly in the nature of an experiment. They were to serve meals in the air, make passengers comfortable identify points of interest and help in other ways to make the journey pleasurable for passengers. At the start they made one trip a day between San Francisco and Chicago.

The pioneers had to meet the hostility of pilots and operating personnel. They worked in planes that were noisier and less comfortable—and far less safe—than today's. Passengers were few and the stewardesses had to discover their duties anew every trip for they varied from day to day.

Well the girls made good! Officials of the experimenting air line soon noticed that passengers began to specify flights served by stewardesses and most of the repeaters in travel by air were passengers who had been served by the cheerful young ladies carving out a new career for women.

Today there are about 600 girls on the domestic air lines of the United States. They are carefully selected and specially trained, and they are such competent and charming persons that their average period of service is only 20 months. They have to leave the service when they marry, and most of them do get married.

VACATION STAY-AT-HOMES

There are millions of people who never get away from home on any vacation or tourist trip. Can they make the summer season pleasant and beneficial?

While tourists are exuberantly stepping on the gas and hitting the high spots of travel, they are not always very happy. Some of them are forever complaining. The bed was so hard that they tossed to and fro all night. Or the food was bad, and their stomachs rebelled at tough beefsteak and water-soaked pie crust.

Most people are never quite as comfortable as they are in their own beds, and eating the kind of food they are used to at home. They may be happier than those who are shedding the dollars on a trip the way a duck sheds the rain.

The sky overhead here in New Castle has just as heavenly a blue as it has over faraway places. The sunsets are as glorious as they are in any famed mecca of vacationists on the face of the globe. Perhaps you can have as much fun enjoying the picnic spots or ball game within a few miles of New Castle as you can watching sports at faroff places.

And there is one thing you get at home that you cannot get elsewhere, and that is friendship. Those who go far from home and put up at some ritzy hotel usually find that the guests look them over with a cold and appraising eye, and if the appraisal is not financially satisfactory they will probably not make any friends if they stay a month.

Blind Evangelist Preaching Sunday

Rev. Neil McIntyre To Be At Struthers, Pentecostal Church And City Mission

This evening at the City Rescue Mission, a great praise and testimony meeting will be held with Rev. Neil McIntyre in charge. A special guest will be Sam Burrows, Scotch singer from Ellwood City.

Superintendent Gibson has planned a busy day for the evangelist on Sunday. At 11 a. m., he will be at the Struthers Baptist Tabernacle in Struthers. At 3 p. m., a mass meeting will be held in the First Pentecostal church on Epworth street, through the courtesy of Rev. Newton Chase. On Sunday evening, the service will be back at the Mission.

On Monday evening, Rev. McIntyre, Scotland's blind evangelist, will give his life story, weaving it into a cruise around Scotland on board the Mission yacht, Atlantoss, of which he was a member for 12 years. This famous yacht anchored in the Scottish bays and held meetings on the sands. Rev. McIntyre did most of the preaching, played the organ, and was tenor singer in the male quartet. Sometimes, ten thousand people attended the seaside services. The service will begin at 8 p. m.

St. Paul's Church Memorial Service

Annual Memorial service will be held in St. Paul's Lutheran church Sunday morning, commemorating the National day when the pastor, Rev. A. M. Stump, will speak on the theme, "The Price of America's Heritage".

In connection with this same service, recognition is made of those who have died during the year from the congregation, numbering 15. A special feature will be the lighting of an electric cross by two pages, Audrey Daugherty and Betty McLaren, while special selections are being sung by the choir and congregation.

Tabernacle Will Have Guest Speaker

Monday evening, evangelistic meetings will commence at Gethsemane Tabernacle, and continue for a period of two weeks.

Services are scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock, and the guest speaker will be Rev. Norman Turnbaugh of Overland, Mo. a well known preacher and singer of western Pennsylvania.

Every evening, special song selections will be offered by guests present. This evening the regular song and praise service will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. Clifford L. Duncan.

When there is an emergency said Mrs. O. H. Perry Pepper of Ithaca, Pa., wife of the president of the physician's organization, "you cannot get confused and you must learn to handle a telephone like a veteran secretary."

Doctor's irregular hours have taught the wives that steaks do not belong on a doctor's menu. "In fact," Mrs. Harold Peil, of Cleveland Heights, vice chairman of women's activities, "you must learn to cook only dishes that can be kept at least an hour and a half before they are eaten."

Yet wives seem to enjoy the irregularities of keeping home for a physician.

"It does away with routine," said Mrs. Rush Lambert, of Fairmount, W. Va., adding, "Imagine eating at the same hour day after day. I certainly would hate routine."

Doctor's Wife Needs Different Rules

Such Is Consensus Of Opinion Of Doctor's Wives At Convention

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, June 1.—Being a doctor's wife, calls for a different set of rules is the consensus of wives of delegates who attended the 24th annual College of Physicians in Cleveland.

Rule number one, they all maintained is "Be prepared for anything."

When there is an emergency said Mrs. O. H. Perry Pepper of Ithaca, Pa., wife of the president of the physician's organization, "you cannot get confused and you must learn to handle a telephone like a veteran secretary."

State Treasury Has $108,933,121 As Year Starts

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 1.—Pennsylvania entered a new fiscal year today—the second of the James administration—with $108,933,121.22 in the state treasury, according to official estimates of State Treasurer F. Clair Ross.

Much of the money was encumbered, however, by various obligations and the money in the treasury's general fund, from which state expenses are paid, totaled $24,709,000 at the close of business yesterday.

As the James administration ended its first fiscal year there was outstanding $109,000,000 in tax anticipation notes which must be paid by May 31, the end of the biennium. Thirty million dollars in tax anticipation notes have already been paid.

The graduation exercises will be conducted in the Washington high school building.

American Embassy Clerk Is Dismissed From London Post

(International News Service)
LONDON, June 1.—Tyler Kent, clerk in the American embassy, has been dismissed from his position by Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy and is now being detained by the British ministry for home security. It was officially announced tonight.

An official communique announcing his dismissal stated:

"As a consequence of action taken by American Ambassador Kennedy in cooperation with British authorities, Tyler Kent, a clerk who was dismissed from employment of the American government, has been detained by order of the ministry for home security."

It was recalled that a week ago there was a report that an employee of the American embassy had been arrested as a "fifth column" suspect. At the time no identity of the suspect was revealed, and the American embassy as well as British authorities refused any further information.

The good old days of song and story lose much of their appeal when you notice what happens to a house without screens.

NEWS BRIEFS IN WARD DISTRICT

Seventh Ward firemen have almost completed planting their garden at the back of the fire station. The firemen produce quite a nice garden each year, growing both vegetables and flowers.

W. F. Reed, former mail carrier in Mahoningtown, surprised the employees at the post office Friday by paying them a visit. It was the first time in nearly a year that Mr. Reed has been able to be about, having been confined to his home by illness.

The three Mahoningtown churches are all planning to celebrate Children's Day on Sunday, June 9. The Mahoning Methodist church will also observe Josiah Sunday, on the same date.

Boy Scouts of Troops 4 and 26, aided very capably at the Seventh Ward cemeteries on Memorial Day. They helped carry water, flowers, dig holes, and anything that needed to be done.

Plan To Bale
Paper Tuesday

Members of the Seventh Ward Civic club have planned a general get-together meeting for Tuesday afternoon at Horchler's warehouse, North Cedar street.

Purpose of the meeting will be to get the old paper and magazines in condition ready to sell. Two baling machines have been made available for the club to use.

NO EVENING SERVICES

Mahoningtown churches have cancelled the evening services for Sunday, to enable the congregations to attend the senior high school baccalaureate program, scheduled for the Cathedral auditorium.

MEETING MONDAY

Mrs. H. E. Alexander has called a meeting for those taking part in the Children's Day program at the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church. The meeting will be held after school Monday afternoon, in the church.

BID-A-BIT CLUB

Members of the Bid-A-Bit club will meet Monday evening at the home of Mae Culbertson, North Cedar street.

And The Care

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

RHEUMATIC FEVER
When I wrote in this column a few weeks ago, about rheumatic fever in children, I don't think I gave proper emphasis to one point: It is not such a dreadful disease if parents are with enough acquainted with the symptoms to recognize them and place the child under a doctor's care immediately. This is impressed on me by letters I have received from parents.

Too often a child has no medical care at all during an attack of rheumatic fever. To the parents it just seems that Johnny has "growing pains." His joints are sore, perhaps swollen. She puts him to bed, he swells down, the pain leaves him, he gets up and goes back to school, apparently normal. The parents attach no significance to the sickness. Just one of those things to be expected among children, they seem to feel.

But, unfortunately, the complications of rheumatic fever are many, and they aren't over when the fever has receded. In a very large number of cases the heart becomes involved, and is affected more or less for life.

The figurative boy to whom we were referring just above may go along for some time apparently quite strong and well. It may be a year before his playmates notice that he can't keep up with them in strenuous games any longer. When he runs around playing the games that children do, he quickly gets out of breath. His heart begins to pound every time he takes any exercise.

Of course, these unfortunate children keep trying to measure up with the rest. They haven't any comprehension of what has happened to them. They puff and strain, doing more damage to a weakened heart in everything they do. Finally, when the heart action gets so weak that even walking makes the victim breathless, the doctor is called.

When the doctor comes, he recognizes what is wrong and puts the child to bed. By that time, however, chances are the child has become a chronic invalid. He may seem much better after a few days in bed, get up, and resume normal activities. Then another attack comes, and the child finds trouble getting his breath even when he is in bed. His legs and buttocks swell; fluid accumulates in the chest because the heart is too weak to keep proper circulation. On examination the doctor will find the heart greatly enlarged, sometimes filling most of the chest cavity; the blood pressure drops alarmingly because of the failing heart.

When a patient reaches this stage there isn't must hope for him, the heart just won't provide the drive for circulation and the patient must stay in bed. As a rule there isn't much suffering in this disease except in the final stages when fluid in the chest makes breathing difficult. Occasionally a child will suffer great agony in the form of an anginal attack.

This disease comes from a focus of infection in a child's system. This infection shows itself long before the rheumatoid develops and parents can avoid the serious complications mentioned above by placing the child in a doctor's care immediately.

Volant Memorial Will Be Ready

Committee In Charge Of Arrangements For Marker Has Plans Well Under Way

Chairman Frank S. Brennen, of the general committee in charge of the arrangements for procuring and erecting a memorial tablet on the site of old Volant College announced today that plans for the memorial marker are well in hand.

Those who expect to be placed on the honor roll of contributors, must send in their names and contributions immediately, as the subscription list is about closed, it is announced.

The committee in charge of securing and placing the boulder, which consists of John B. Shaw, Clark Blevins, Homer Broadbent, Will Allen, and Henry Potter have announced that their part of the program will be completed in good time so that the memorial can be dedicated at the annual Volant College reunion and home coming on June 26.

Those who have been giving General Chairman Brennenman splendid assistance on the project, are: Judge James A. Chambers, Attorney Harvey Martin, John C. Sylling, President Homer C. Drake, treasurer, A. Reid English, Secretary Olive Clinefelter, Miss Mary Minnehan, and Dr. S. A. Kirkbride.

Church Sodality To Have Breakfast

St. Mary's Sodality Communion Breakfast To Be At Castle-ton, Sunday, July 7

At the Friday evening meeting of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Mary's church, final plans were completed for the communion breakfast to be held on Sunday, July 7, at The Castle-ton.

Rev. Raymond Must, who will be ordained into priesthood in June, will be the guest speaker at the breakfast. The general chairman of the event is Helen Maher.

Motion pictures of the May crowning held recently will be shown at the church, Tuesday evening at 8:15 o'clock. On behalf of the Sodality, a lovely gift was presented to Catherine Hannon, a member, who is a bride-elect of June 6.

At the close of business, an interesting talk was given by the Rev. Fr. Leo S. Waterson, spiritual director of the Sodality. Father Waterson chose as his subject, "Confirmation."

July 5, is the date for the next session, in the church meeting rooms at 8 o'clock.

DAILY DOZEN
(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

War is tragic enough—the louse makes it worse.

Lice also to the dangers of a soldier's life.

Insect pests are the most common carriers of disease.

The louse is a carrier of the dread typhus fever.

In the East, whole armies have been killed by typhus.

On the Western Front soldiers had lice but no typhus.

Lice also carry relapsing fever and trench fever.

During war, collective attention centers on the louse.

Many insect mites habitually attack human beings.

The widest known insect of the world is the bedbug.

There is little evidence the bedbug transmits disease.

The louse is the loudest of all insects.

Captain Gainard Is Without Job

Man Who Commanded City Of Flint In Famous Odyssey Hunts Job

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 1.—Capt. Joseph A. Gainard, who plotted the American freighter City of Flint on its long odyssey as a Nazi war prize, is out of a job.

Speaking to fellow survivors of the U. S. S. President Lincoln, torpedoed in the World War, Capt. Gainard last night gave two reasons for his predicament.

One, he said, was the American neutrality law under which the United States forbade its vessels passage in combat areas and the other was a mutiny on the Algie while he was captain of that ship. The 14 men who were convicted of mutiny have jobs again, Capt. Gainard said, but the witnesses against them, he charged, can't get jobs because of opposition by the National Maritime Union.

Another Man's Viewpoint

You have a business—a bank, an office, a factory, a store. You see it one way. Your interest is in management, in operating efficiency, in profit. That's your viewpoint.

So from the lawyer you get the legal viewpoint. From an able insurance agent you get the insurance viewpoint—the human hazard, the fire risk, the accident possibilities, danger from burglary or forgery.

The agent sees risks you'd never think of—and insurance economies you'd never guess. When a claim occurs he is your expert representative.

Insurance that minimizes the agent's function may lessen your protection, your service. Insurance is dollar protection. There are no cut-rate dollars for sale.

Why not let an experienced agent take a look at your business from an insurance point of view? Like a check-up by your family doctor, it can do no harm—may save your business life.

Shenango Pottery Takes Lead In Golf Race At City Course

Sweeping Victory Last Evening Gives Them Half Point Edge Over Herges

With a sweeping victory over Unions last evening, Shenango Pottery took undisputed possession of first place in the Sylvan Heights Golf League, breaking the triple tie which existed last week between Shelby Social, Herges, and New Castle Moose, but there are still five teams very much in the race, and the lead may switch around next week.

Herges continued their fast pace by defeating the Duca D'Abuzzi entry by a score of 4 to 1, but the other matches were more even. Saegertown won from Ellwood City Saxons 3 to 2, and Ellwood City Moose defeated New Castle Moose 3 to 2, while I. C. and Universal Sanitary Manufacturing Co., and Fentons and Shelby Socials broke even at 3 all.

Marty Segodi, of the Ellwood City Saxons again shot sub-par golf for the second consecutive night, turning in a neat 35 on the sodden turf, followed by Marty Kovach, of Shelby Socials with a 37. Ted Lach, Herman Kennedy, Monsey, and Jimmy Pagley had 38's, and Louis Malls, Wyman, Justine, Pete Dimico, and J. Elder had 39's.

The standing of the teams shows, the following: Shenango Pottery, 17; Herges, 17; Shelby Social, 15; New Castle Moose, 15; Saegertown, 13; I. C., 12; Universal Sanitary Manufacturing, 11; Ellwood City Moose, 10; Ellwood City Saxons, 9; Duca D'Abuzzi, 8; Unions, 8; Fentons, 7.

Next week's schedule, will find the following teams opposing each other: I. C. vs. Ellwood City Saxons; Saegertown vs. Fentons; Shelby Social vs. Shenango Pottery; Herges vs. Unions; Duca D'Abuzzi vs. New Castle Moose; and Universal Sanitary Manufacturing vs. Ellwood City Moose.

LOUIS-GODOY MEET JUNE 20

Chilean Heavy Will Brave Jinx In Return Bout With Champ, Louis Starts Training

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 1.—Joe Louis seems to have regained his fast ball in training at Greenwood Lake, N. Y., for his heavyweight championship defense against Arturo Godoy at Yankee stadium on the evening of June 20, and if this be so, then Godoy may join the ranks of those who have failed to let well enough alone. At the start of his prize fighting career Louis used really to crack down on his spar mates in preparation for his battles. Lately he has been content merely to get in a good workout, until now we find him banging away again as of old. We don't profess to know how important this may prove to be. But he really is pitching a high hard one.

Godoy Came Close
However, Godoy is braving a jinx that none has been able to break so far, the same being to win from or to make Louis look bad in a return bout. Godoy came fairly close to outpointing the champion last February in a dull match that showed Louis up at his worst, much as Lee Ramage, Natie Brown and Bob Pansy had previously done, not to mention Max Schmeling, who scored that all-time upset knockout.

But they all got theirs in return matches and Louis quite obviously is determined to keep that record of his for getting even intact. Earlier in the week he knocked out George Nicholson, a confirmed and habitual sparring partner who previously had gone more than 200 training rounds with the champion without suffering anything worse than a quick knockdown prior to the second round fight at Detroit last September. —BUY IN NEW CASTLE—

BARTLE AND DAVIES FIGHT MONDAY NIGHT

Although Smokey Robinson, national A. A. U. lightweight champion and Mike Conella, a Golden Glove mitt swinger of Youngstown are docked for the main three-round bout in the Shelby auditorium, Ellwood City, Monday night the Ellwoodian's eyes will be focused on Benny Bartle, ex-high school griddler and Willie Davies, Youngstown, light-heavyweights. The Ellwood A. C. is promoting the bouts. Benny defeated Mickey Rubin of this city and hopes to hit the elusive colored Davies with a right hand smash that will send Willie Davies down for the count. Benny is a game chap; in fact, he is willing to take several to give one and the battle should be crammed with action.

Moran vs N. Retardo
Frankie Moran and Nick Retardo should put up a good fight, likewise Billy Reale and Johnny Coma. The former pair will battle as lightweights and the latter pair as middleweights. Coma is the more experienced. However, the Castlewood farmer hopes to make a good showing with the Erie Dispatch-Herald middleweight tournament winner.

Other bouts carded are: Babe Retardo vs Arvie Bowd, 128; Roy Cruise vs Chuck Arnett, 147; Tony Como vs Harold Hazlett, and Nate Hargreaves vs Vic Hall.

Sports World Ramblings

Touring the circuits....At last! The New York Yankees have apparently defeated the "southpaw complex" which plagued them during the budding days of the season. Late in the evening of June 1, they have panned six of the last seven pitchers to face them.... Any Brooklyn player who objects conscientiously to air travel, is excused from the Dodgers' air jaunts.

Paul Campbell is so good at his first base job with Louisville that he actually tossed his rival out of town and into the major leagues. Campbell, a favorite with Colonel fans, moved up to the Red Sox. With Fox handling the Sox's first base post, there wasn't much chance of Campbell breaking into a varsity berth.

Louisville fans kept clamoring for their favorite. Meanwhile, Art Mahan was holding the Louisville first base job. Campbell was finally returned to Louisville and Mahan lost his job. Louisville sold Mahan to the Phillies. He has been sparking plugging the rejuvenated Phillies ever since.

Joe Cronin, foreman of the Red Sox, disagrees with all and sundry regarding his pitching problem. With warm weather here to stay, Cronin figures his hurlers will be straight out and hurl back the challenge of Cleveland and the Yanks. He even figures on coping victories in double figures. His twirling is of a mediocre class, at present. The Sox do have plenty of power, however.

The Chicago Cubs may establish a new record for leaving base-runners stranded. In the first 28 games played by the Wrigleymen, 218 men were left on the bags.... Johnny Mize attributes his home run and batting slump to the fact that minor league tossers didn't get a chance to throw him off his stride during spring training. He spent the grapevine season in St. Louis nursing injuries.

In all probabilities, "Lefty" Grove drew his last starting assignment on Memorial Day against the Yanks. Once again, he failed to finish. Grove worked five chukkers, yielding six hits, issuing a walk, hitting a batter and pegged a wild pitch.

Featuring the batting attack was Turk with a homer, and Kendra with a triple, while Zingaro, Bullano and Clark had doubles.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Bronze 360 301 30—16 21 1
Milsons 010 110 00—3 7 2

Batteries: Johnson Bronze, Kendra and Turco; Milsons, Dwyer and Morgan.

RADIATORS WIN GAME
The National Radiators won from the Valentines last night in a Class A game at the Hickory Heights field 7 to 1. It was the third win of the year for the Rads. Sunday the Rads go to Elport to meet the Tigers.

Greg Ross did a swell job of pitching last night allowing the Valentines but one hit. The Rads had 13 hits off of Lates.

Radiators 010 000 402—7 13 1
Valentines 000 010 000—1 1 3

Batteries: Radiators, G. Ross and Ambrosia; Valentines, Lates and Aven.

Gus Big Ten Wins
The Gus Big Ten defeated Willow Grove last night in a Class A softball game at the Rose Avenue field. The score was 10 to 1. Gunther on the hill for the Gus team pitched a swell one-hit game. The Gus only had four hits off of Beres and Stephenson. A. Adams had the only hit for the Willow Grove team. Henderson and Lateano hit the ball hard.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Willow Grove 001 000 000—1 1 6
Gus Big Ten 005 040 01x—10 4 3

Batteries: Willow Grove: Beres, Stephenson and Smith; Gus Big Ten: Gunther and Wehr.

CIVICS TAKE VICTORY
The East Side Civics won from the Sons of Italy last night in a Class A softball game at Lehigh field 3 to 2. The game was a pitchers battle all the way, each hurler allowing but nine hits. It was Augustine on the hill for the Civics and Gairdo for the Sons of Italy.

Extra-base hits were made by Vanessa, F. Murdock and Clazza.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Sons of Italy 100 000 001—2 9 1
E. S. Civics 000 000 30x—3 9 0

Batteries: Civics—Augustine and W. Murdock. Sons of Italy—Gairdo and L. Santangelo.

The first course on marriage in an American university is said to have been offered at the University of North Carolina in 1927; similar courses are now given in 225 colleges and universities in the United States.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE--THE WATCHED PLOT

I THINK WE'VE GOT A WEEK--BUT WE AREN'T TAKING CHANCES--FROM NOW ON, I WANT EVERY EXIT OUT OF THAT HOUSE OF AXEL'S COVERED DAY AND NIGHT--

KEEP OUT OF SIGHT--LET 'EM COME AND GO--BUT HAVE A TOMMY GUN COVERING EVERY DOOR, WINDOW, TUNNEL, SEWER OUTLET, ROOF--EVEN THE RAT-HOLES!

SOME NIGHT SOON AXEL WILL HAVE ALL HIS "GENERALS" IN FOR THE FINAL ORDERS--O.K.--KEEP A COUNT ON 'EM--WHEN THEY'RE ALL INSIDE--WE ACT--- QUICK AND QUIET--

THERE'LL BE A COUPLE HUNDRED OF 'EM--BUT WE'LL TAKE 'EM ALL RIGHT--NO SHOOTING--NO NOISE--NO COPS--NO NEWSPAPER BOYS--IF WE CAN HELP IT--I WANT TO KEEP THIS A PRIVATE PARTY--

IT WON'T BE PEACEFUL FOR LONG!

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEKAL

According to some very interesting reports . . . there will be some mighty fine golfers by the end of the season. Practice makes perfect so some say and with new swings being practiced and the season as young as it is . . . some of the boys think they will be equal (almost) to Bobby Jones. But it makes no difference how you play golf . . . or what your score is . . . if you enjoy the game and have fun . . . that is the important part. However now and then we find the chap who can't stand to see his neighbor have a lower score . . . then he tries

Firm TodayTrading Is Extremely Quiet
In Half-Day Market, After Firming At
OpeningBy LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, June 1.—The stock market eased today after a firm opening. Trading was extremely quiet throughout.

Bethlehem steel dropped a point after being fractionally higher. U. S. Steel substituted a small loss for an earlier gain. Other steels were steadier with National up a point.

Chrysler and General Motors slipped back to the previous close after moving somewhat higher.

Some of the blue chips were in demand. All Chemical and Coca Cola rose a point each, and American Telephone almost as much. On the other hand Westinghouse dropped a point. Union Pacific started 2 points lower but halved its loss later.

Copper shares were little affected by the big allied orders placed this week, and were mostly lower.

There was some activity in International Paper on the rise in prices of certain paper lines. The preferred was up almost 2 points at one time but lost most of its gain.

Oils sagged. Sears Roebuck lost a point in the mail orders and Montgomery Ward was off almost as much.

There was some pressure on the aviation. United Aircraft dropped more than a point.

Conn-Lesnevich
Battle June 5

(International News Service)

DETROIT, June 1.—Adhering to a Michigan boxing commission ruling, Billy Conn, world's light-heavyweight boxing titlist, and Gus Lesnevich, challenger, today had posted $2,500 forfeit bonds to insure their making the weight for their June 5th bout in Olympia stadium.

Bonds were demanded after Conn, last week, was found to weigh 181½ pounds, way over the 175-pound limit. Intense training, however, brought Conn's weight down to 178½, and it appeared likely he would get under the line by next Wednesday.

Band Concert At
Kaufmann CampCamp Facilities At Harmony
To Be Shown On June 9
To Interested Public

The Zellenople high school band, under the direction of Herbert J. Holroyd, will give a concert on the grounds of the Emma Kaufmann camp at Harmony on Sunday afternoon, June 9.

This will be among the many features of a special visiting day to which the public is invited to attend, so they can see the facilities of this outstanding camp which provides outings for over a thousand mothers and children every summer.

The swimming pool will be open, as well as the play house, playground, athletic field, handicraft huts. The day's program will close with a campfire and songs in which all will take part.

The Emma Farm Association, which operates the Emma Kaufmann camp, receives its support from the Community Fund of Pittsburgh. While the majority of campers are of Jewish faith, the work of the camp has always been carried on a nonsectarian basis, with counselors and staff members being made up of different faiths.

Orange Lodge Has
27th AnniversaryBanquet And Fine Program
Marks Gala Celebration
On Friday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, June 1.—The twenty seventh anniversary of the Orange Lodge was celebrated in a gala manner last evening beginning with a dinner at the First Christian church.

The dining room was decorated with red and white streamers and the long tables at which places were arranged with red candles in crystal holders and miniature flag favors. Singing was enjoyed at the banquet with Mrs. Lottie Fye in charge and Mrs. Irene Maine, accompanist.

After the delicious chicken dinner served by the Willing Workers class, the group gathered at the bank hall for a fine program. The hall was cleverly decorated with the lodge colors, orange, blue, purple and scarlet with trellises and arches being decorated with morning glories in the lodge shades.

The program opened with a pageant honoring the Past Officers during which each one was given a lovely gift. Remarks were given by Mrs. Mary McClintock, past supreme mistress, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Minnie Davis, supreme color bearer, of Butler; Mrs. Mary Mary Ray, state trustee of New Castle; Carl Stevens, worthy master of the local men's lodge; Mrs. Henrietta Davis, district deputy of New Castle and R. E. Callahan, state grand master of this city. Dance pupils of Betty Nickum Hall contributed entertainment.

Under the direction of F. D. Buquo, the local drill team presented an exhibition that won much applause. A lovely gift was presented to Mrs. Davis, of New Castle for her services to the local group.

Town guests attended from Pittsburgh, Butler and New Castle. Mrs. Lottie Fye was chairman of the entertainment committee and Mrs. R. E. Callahan, the decorations.

Arrangements were made to hold the annual oratorical contest at the Darlington church on Thursday, June 20. A mid-summer rally will be held on July 7, at the Fourmile church, when the national secretary, Mack Shaw, will show motion pictures of national conventions.

Opening devotions were led by Jimmy Van Gorder, of this city. During the evening, tempting refreshments were served by Mrs. Lottie Fye. Another meeting will be held on Friday, July 5, at the home of Miss Edna McConnell, of New Bethlehem.

In the afternoon, Dr. Hickman, of the department of science in the Assiut College in Egypt will be the main speaker and the evening address will be

Pledges Legion Co-Operation Against Fifth Column

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, June 1.—Raymond J. Kelly, national commander of the American Legion, on Friday pledged legion cooperation with federal agencies in weeding out all "fifth columnists" and urged removal of all political influences from the president's rearmament program.

Speaking before the Chicago executive club, he declared that precautions against the "rediscovered tactics of organized treason behind the lines" as practiced in Europe's war "must be a part of any defensive preparation we must make."

"Today, there are several million people in the United States, many of them landless and propertyless, who desire and who would aid in the destruction of our form of government by whatever means might come to their use," Kelly declared.

U. S. Experimented With Parachute Troops Years Ago

(International News Service)
SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Parachute troops which have been used with apparent success by Germany in the European War are nothing new to the United States Army.

Experimental work along this line had been done as far back as 1929. Brooks Field in San Antonio was the scene of the first official demonstration of how armed troops might be landed by parachute.

The idea is credited to Master Sergeant Erwin H. Nichols, then in charge of the Brooks Field parachute department.

Nine enlisted men jumped from as many DeHavilland airplanes. As they descended another plane came by and dropped three machine guns. It took only four minutes for the men to leap out, float to earth and set up the guns ready for action.

Francescone Home From Harrisburg

Stationed At Resident Center
Which Is N. Y. A. Activity In State

Eugene Francescone of R. D. 6, is home for a short visit after six weeks spent in the Resident Center at Harrisburg, Pa. Mr. Francescone is one of four Lawrence County boys who are stationed in the Center which is an NYA activity.

The boys are housed in a three story brick building in Harrisburg and their work consists of an apprenticeship in aviation mechanics at the Middletown U. S. Air Depot.

One week is spent in the shop where the theoretical part of aviation mechanics is taught. The alternate week is spent at the air port where the boys are apprenticed to skilled aviation mechanics.

Each of the boys receives $30 per month of which $20 goes to Center for board and room. The work is an opportunity to learn aviation mechanics which just now seems to offer a field for young men mechanically inclined.

The other three local boys who are in the Harrisburg Center are Vaughn Weatherby of Epworth street, Arthur Trott and Walter Mumyak of Galbreath avenue.

Horse Staging Big Comeback In Great Britain

Rationing Of Gasoline Has Given Boom To Demand
For Horses

(International News Service)
LONDON, June 1.—British dealers in "man's greatest friend" were today experiencing a war-time boom in horses. In fact, prosperity has returned for them.

With English tradesmen taking more and more to motor transport during the past decade, horses of all types had practically disappeared from the streets of London.

But today the commandeering of trucks for war purposes, and the severe rationing of gasoline has changed all that.

The heavy carthorses are coming back to the London streets, the pony and trap are enjoying a new vogue and prices of horses have risen and are continuing to rise.

Countrymen are bringing their horses to London for sale and obtaining prices 50 to 100 per cent higher than ruled last year. Buyers from all parts of the country are attending the horse sales.

Record Horse Sales

At the London Repository, where the biggest horse auction sales are held, over 140 horses were recently sold in as many minutes.

Each horse was trotted up and down the length of the stable where the sales took place.

"Here's one in fine fettle," announced Alfred Harris, the top-hatted auctioneer, as a heavy dray-horse was paraded for critical inspection. "A nice bit of weight there, and he knows his job—knows his way about the London streets."

Horse after horse was "knocked down" in a matter of minutes, and sometimes of seconds. Good cart horses fetched as much as $210.

Equally brisk was the bidding for sleek horses for private use. People who live in the country are garaging their automobiles and going back to the days of 30 years ago, when carriages were the fashion.

One result of the boom in horses is that the ostlers have come into their own again. Many who were fired long ago to be replaced by motor mechanics, are now back at their old work of feeding and grooming the horses.

Schools Fail To Uproot Beliefs Of Long Standing

Study Shows Education Fails To Correct Beliefs Rooted In Superstition

(International News Service)
STATE COLLEGE, Pa., June 1.—Public schools have failed to correct beliefs rooted in superstition, according to a study made at the Pennsylvania State college by Ray A. Kurtz, under the supervision of Dr. C. C. Peters, director of educational research.

Kurtz compared the knowledge of 52 adult farmers enrolled in agricultural schools.

"In 22 questions based on superstition, agricultural students' answers were wrong just as often as those of the farmers," Mr. Kurtz said. "Of all the questions in the test nine of the most frequently missed were based on superstition."

About two-thirds of both groups still believed no one should eat ice cream and fish together, the results showed. Another common observation frequently missed by the students was the statement that strong drink makes one warm. Farmers were less often fooled by that one.

Second Corps Army Maneuvers Are Set
Dozen States To Send Troops To Plattsburg For August Training

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 1.—Throwing the defense mechanism of the army into high gear, Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum Friday ordered concentration of the Second Corps Army, National Guard and Reserves for maneuvers at Plattsburg for the period of August 3 to 31.

In issuing the order, the Second Corps commander broke several precedents. Major maneuvers have for a long period been spaced four years apart and have lasted only for 15 days with almost half that time spent in concentration of the army and breaking camp.

Maneuvers were held last summer at Plattsburg but General Drum not only has ordered another major concentration for August but has stretched the training period to cover almost the entire month.

A strong advocate for facing realities, Drum, who last summer told his officer "We have only a paper army," has reported that in the August maneuvers only existing arms and equipment will be used. It means that no "paper" bombers will be brought down by "paper" anti-aircraft batteries—the "red" army and the "blue" army, into which the corps will be divided, will
